1. ABACUS

ARISTO KIDS

ABACUS - Introduction

The abacus is the most ancient calculating device known. It consists of a wooden frame, rods, and beads. Each rod represents a different place value—ones, tens, hundreds, thousands, and so on. Each bead represents a number, usually 1 or 5, and can be moved along the rods.

Addition and subtraction can easily be performed by moving beads along the wires of the abacus.

In short it is a simple tool used for fast and accurate calculations.

Using regular mathematical steps, solving problems sometimes are complex and time consuming. But using Vedic Mathematics, numerical calculations can be done very fast. This helps students overcome their fear of arithmetic and improve overall confidence dramatically.

One of the most beneficial features of Vedic math is that it enriches and enhances the knowledge and understanding of the math so that one can learn it in an easy way.

By learning Vedic Mathematics the students can solve complex mathematical problems like  $128375 \times 1111$  or  $7896432 \times 9888887$  or cube root of 875375 or square root of 378225 in just 2 to 3 seconds.

Many children struggle with learning their multiplication tables--as their parent, you may feel like it's your duty to help them. After all, they'll need quick skills to help them throughout high school, college, and life.

Therefore we have come up with a special course for kids of 8 to 12 years to teach them tables from 2 to 999 without doing any multiplication. Usually multiplication takes lot of time, boring and at time frustrating, but we teach special method by which kid can give answer of any table up to 999 in just seconds.
